

ANNUAL TEAL gala

Wednesday, November 1, 2017

Mile High Station, Denver

7NEWS' Theresa Marchetta, Mistress of Ceremonies

Join us for a festive night to celebrate our community of volunteers and advocates who make a difference in the lives of women with ovarian cancer.

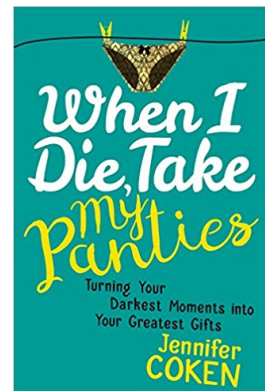

Honoring: Carol Goldstein, Ph.D., RN, is a professor of nursing, an ovarian cancer survivor, and an outstanding advocate for all women battling ovarian cancer. She has authored studies that shine a light on the need for medical professionals to increase their knowledge of the signs and symptoms of ovarian cancer. She chairs the Council for the Gynecologic Oncology Division at the University of Colorado, which focuses on supporting the gynecologic oncology fellowships.

RSVP and More Information

Guest Speaker: Jennifer Coken, an author, life coach, and former Coloradoan, was deeply affected by ovarian cancer after her mother's diagnosis. She wrote "When I Die, Take My Panties" - the title is a direct quote from her mother. Jennifer helps people come through challenging times with a sense of self.

Join us in making a difference for Colorado women battling ovarian cancer!

RSVP and More Information

Or call 303-506-7014
This year's dinner will benefit the many programs of the Colorado Ovarian Cancer Alliance.

See what's happening on our social sites

